SCENTCrystal®
BY CASTELBERG

Castelberg's ScentCrystal is a scented polymer that offers a variety of sensory qualities that can be molded into scented jewelry, as well as scented accessories. This unique material affords your product high clarity and a rich set of colors. Easily molded and polished to a high gloss, Castelberg's ScentCrystal Polymers bring out a deep saturation of colors accompanied by your fragrance.

Customers can now sample and/or sell scented molded products as never before. This material is suited for innovative scent sampling for a multitude of promotional items like Rings, Bangles, Charms, Pendants and Hair Care accessories. Our state of the art graphic facilities can transfer your drawings into 2 D and 3 D designs.

Once the final sample is approved, we produce a production mold in our internal workshop using the most modern lathes, milling machines, and electro-erosions. We then produce, with our client's essential oils, an accurate rendition of their fragrance in the molded pieces. With over 30 years of experience in the field of technical molding, Castelberg is able to produce even the most intricate designs. Don't trust your scent to producer's who are not specialists in creating a resin based product that fits your company's high standards. Our years of experience and our dedication to your brand will result in an outstanding product.

With Castelberg's ScentCrystal, your only limitation is your imagination.
